Violence Indicators

Although rates for behaviors associated with violence as reported by youth in the 2005 Valencia County Youth Risk and Resiliency Survey (YRRS) dropped between 2003 and 2005, they were higher and in some cases almost double the rates for 2001. Also, county rates were consistently higher than New Mexico rates.

The likelihood of being abused as an adult increases considerably in the elderly population. Whereas less than 5% of the substantiated abuse was inflicted on adults aged 18 to 25 in 2002 60% of the cases involved adults over 70 years old. The U.S. Census Bureau notes that 44.2% of seniors aged 65 and older in Valencia County have a disability of some sort, which further increases the risk of abuse in this population.
